Latest London Dispatches.

LONDON, Feb. 14.—Policemen Cole and Cox, who were dangerously wounded while endeavoring to prevent the recent dynamite explosion at West Minster hall have received a number of valuable presents.

Messengers have arrived at Korti from Khartoum, who were six days on the journey. The news they bring of recent events at Khartoum are not yet made known.

The Standard received a special despatch from its correspondent at Korti stating that a messenger had just arrived at Korti. The despatch says Khartoum has not been captured by the mahdi. The messenger asserts he left Khartoum six days after Col. Sir Charles Wilson appeared before the city in boats sent from Gabal, and when he, the messenger, left General Gordon still held Khartoum. Government officials do not believe the messenger's story and state that no official information in confirmation of it has been received.

The police and other witnesses for the Crown in the case of James G. Cunningham, the alleged dynamiter, have received letters threatening them with death if they permit in giving damaging testimony against the prisoner.

Another despatch from Korti states that messengers who arrived there from Khartoum profess ignorance regarding the fall of Khartoum or the death of General Gordon.

The madir of Dongola refuses to credit the reports concerning the fall of Khartoum into the hands of the mahdi and the death of General Gordon and the garrison.

The authorities here announce this afternoon that they do not believe the messengers' statements regarding the fate of Khartoum rest upon a satisfactory basis.

EARL NORTH CROOK, the first lord admiral, Childers chancellor of the exchequer, and Harcourt Thorne, secretary, attended the council of war at the war office this afternoon. The Duke of Cambridge, Commander-in-Chief of Her Majesty's armies, to-day at Aldershot, reviewed the guards who have been ordered to Egypt. He pronounced them thoroughly efficient.

What's a Miracle

As some people is really only the result of the use of Armstrong's common-sense. Many persons suffering from hesitate about taking a remedy fearing it will not help them, and they doubt whether it really did do much for others as is claimed.

This is not the way Mr. C. R. Bruner of Urbana, Ohio, did. He writes:

"Armstrong is the best I ever tried. I was down in bed so bad that I had to be turned on a chair, and so I got a bottle of Armstrong's Medicine. It cost me $1.00, but it was worth everything a man could suffer. I took four doses of it, and I got out of bed yesterday after only one dose. I am not the only one who has been cured by this medicine. IT IS WORTH ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD."

THE DOWNFALL

Of Religion Threatening the World with Darkness.

Even as the Horrors That Would Follow the Sun's Destruction,

So Are the Terrors of a World Without Christianity.

The Defamer of God has the Liberty of the Platform,

While the Common, Drunken Blasphemer is Subject to the Law's Arrest.

Dr. Tulinge's subject last Sunday was: "The Downfall of Religion," and his text was taken from Acts ii, 20: "The sun shall be turned into darkness." Following is the sermon in full:

Solar eclipse is here prophesied to take place just before the destruction of Jerusalem. Josephus, the worldly historian, says that the prophecy was literally fulfilled, and that the skies were full of strange appearances about this time. Of course, the sun was not obliterated, but clouds rolled between it and the earth. Christianity is the rising sun in our time, but there are many, who, by the uprolling vapors of skepticism and the smoke of their blasphemy, are attempting to turn it into darkness.

Suppose the archangels of malice and horror were unloosed and permitted to extinguish the sun in the natural heavens. They throw on that great lamp of our planetary system oceans from other worlds, and the waters roll hissing down into the ravines and chasms of that great luminary and explosion follows explosion until only a few peaks of fire are left, and now they are cooling off and going down until the vast continents of flame are reduced to a small acreage of fire, and this has been reduced to a few coals, and they are whitening and soon go out; not a spark left in the mountains of ashes and the valleys of ashes and the caverns of smoke. An extinguished sun! A dead sun! A buried sun! Let all worlds wail at the stupendous obsequies!

Under this withdrawal of solar light and heat our earth, of course, takes universal chill, and the tropics become the temperate, and the temperate becomes the Arctic, and there are frozen rivers and frozen lakes and frozen oceans. The inhabitants gather in from Arctic and Antarctic regions toward the center to find the equator as the poles. The skin forests are heaped into huge bonfires, around which shivering villages and cities gather. The wealth of all the coal mines is hastily poured into a furnace and stirred into rage of combustion, but even the bonfires are lowering and the furnaces are cooling off and the nations are dying. Vesuvius and Cotopaxi and Stromboli and the California geysers cease their smoke, and the end of the hail-storms remains unmelted in the craters. All the flowers have breathed their last breath. All the leaves of the forest have fallen. Ships on the sea with sailors frozen at the mast, and helmsmen frozen at the wheel, and passengers frozen in the cabin. All nations dying, first at the north, then at the south. Children frosty and dead in the cradle. Octogenarians frosty and dead by the hearth. Workmen with frozen arms holding the hammer, or with frozen foot on the shuttle. Winter in all zones. Winter from sea to sea. All congealing winter! Perpetual winter! Hemisphere shocked to hemisphere! Globe of rigidity! Universal Nova Zembla. The whole earth an ice floe, grinding against other ice floes. So the archangels of malice and horror have put out the natural sun and destroyed our world and they may take their throne of glister and their crown of ice and their scepter of ice.

What the obliteration of the natural sun would do for the natural world the destruction of Christianity would do for the moral world. The sun turned into darkness. At the present time infidelity is a joke. There are people who will give fifty cents on a dollar to hear Christianity assailed by epigram and quibble, and badinage and harlequinade. If correctly reported, one of the loudest laughs in Brooklyn theater last Sabbath night was at the Lord Jesus Christ, the Savior of the world, the one who came to carry our sorrows. I read from the lecture following in regard to Christ: "When He was here He was forgiving and half human." But now He is God, instead of saying "Father, forgive them for they know not what they do," He sends them to eternal fire. It is wonderful the difference office makes with some people! (Laughter.)

Now, there is one law that ought either to be erased from the statute book or else executed, and that is the law against blasphemy. What is blasphemy? I went into the law library and I find this authority: "Blasphemous words against God, contumacious reprobates and profane ridicule of Christ or the holy scripture are offenses punishable at common law, whether uttered by words or writing." If a poor drunkard man stood on a street corner this morning and took the name of God irreverently on his lips in presence of passers by he would be grabbed and hustled to the police station. But there is not a city authority in the United States that has backbone enough to stop the infidel and blasphemous utterances of last Sunday night, though it is being delivered in all the cities. Penalties and prisons for those who defame the most insignificant man in the city, but defamation of God has perfect immunity. It would have been the finest drama ever enacted on the stage of that Brooklyn theater if in the midst of such utterances my friend Patrick Campbell, chief of police, who believes in God and Christ, had, with a platoon of his officers, stepped upon the stage and gently laying his hand upon the shoulder of the lecturer, said: "In the name of the common law of this country and in the name of the families of Brooklyn this infamy must stop, and stop here and stop now."

"But," says some one, "are you not in favor of free speech?" Oh, yes; I am in favor of all styles of freedom—free driving of horses, but not liberty to run over people in the streets; free fire in your stove, but not incendiaries or the burning of the property of others; free air, but not permission to poison that which others breathe; free use of knives, but no right to stab others; free use of gunpowder, but no allowance for assassination; free speech, but no permission for obscenity or slander or false swearing or blasphemy; free to do right and act according to law, but never free to do wrong and against law. I call the attention of judges and attorneys and police commissioners and mayors of cities to the importance of either driving the law against blasphemy from the statute book or putting it into immediate execution. There will in some of our cities arise authority tall enough to see beyond all political surroundings, and strong enough to execute the statutes of the state, and then we shall have no more of the execrable and dastardly abominations that were uttered last Sabbath night in Brooklyn theater, and the carnal stench of leprosy infidelity will be fumigated from the atmosphere.

There is a class of persons in all our community hoping for the overthrow of the Christian religion, and many who are bold to say that the world will be better off without it than with it. I want to show the end of this road—the terminus of this crusade, and what will be the state of things on the supposition that they triumph.

First, woman's complete and unutterable degradation. I will prove it by arguments and facts that no sound or honest being will dispute. In the communities and the cities and the nations where the Christian religion has reigned women's condition has been ameliorated and improved, and she is honored and deferred to in a thousand things, and there is not a gentleman who does not take off his hat in her presence. She may in the United States and England suffer some injustice, but she has more of her rights in Christendom than anywhere else. If your associations have been good, you know that the words wife and mother, sister and daughter, are suggestive of the most gracious surroundings. The best schools and seminaries of the United States are for young women.

Then take woman's condition in lands where Christianity has made little or no headway. China, Egypt, Turkey, Asia, Burmese, Barbary! The Burmese wife and daughters like sheep. The Hindoo Bible forbids a woman to hear music or sit at a window during the absence of her husband, and allows no divorce if the wife eats before the husband has finished his meal. The Hindoo wife is consumed on the funeral pyre of her husband. The horse, the cow, the dog, the cat are better off. They were intended for brutes and only expect to be treated as brutes. But see the white bangles on the rivers in the morning in China. Infanticide after infanticide. Female children cast off because they are females. See the women harassed to plow like oxen! Hidden from the sight of men by barriques and by veils, and by all styles of cruel seclusion. Their birth a disaster, their life a torture and their death a horror. The missionary of the cross has finished his使命. The Hindoo wife is consumed on the funeral pyre of her husband. The horse, the cow, the dog, the cat are better off. They were intended for brutes and only expect to be treated as brutes. But see the white bangles on the rivers in the morning in China. Infanticide after infanticide. THE CITY.

Daniel Ryan acts as mayor in the absence of Colonel Zollinger.

Tom Creighton has accepted a position as clerk at the Murray foundry.

Freight engine 1327 left the Wabash shop to day after being overhauled.

A splendid new clock has been put in the Wabash passenger depot in this city.

When Moody, the evangelist, closes his engagement here, he goes to Indianapolis.

The Seengerbund masquerade occurs at the Academy skating rink Tuesday evening.

James H. Hendrie has increased the force in the blacksmith shop at the Old's wagon works.

The funeral of John Ryall occurs to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Trinity Episcopal church.

Two big bells came here yesterday from Troy, N. Y. They will hang in St. John's Lutheran church.

Prof. F. N. Innes, the trombone soloist, is still giving concerts in the state. He was at Marion, Ind., last night.

Last night a freight train passed through here on the Wabash consisting of seventy-eight cars, one-half of which were loaded.

Dr. H. S. Meyers severed the lower limb of a negro at the city hospital to-day. The young surgeon inherits his father's skill.

All the train men on the Pittsburg, who left the city on Monday, returned to-day on account of the blockaded condition of the road.

There will be a great time at the Academy of Music skating rink to-night. A band will furnish music and the electric light will blaze on the merry throng.

Charles Shermerhorn, Supt. P. S. O'Rourke's private secretary, who resigned to-day, will return to Michigan and engage in business with his father.

Hon. Eli W. Brown, joint senator from Allen and Whitley counties, was in the city to-day. Mr. Brown is a power in the upper house of the Indiana legislature.

Fred Rebhling, jr., boiler maker in the Wabash shop, got a bad cut over the right eye yesterday from a piece of steel. He is able to be on duty, looking like a pugilist.

In the democratic caucus Tuesday night, the metropolitan police bill was not referred to at all. The republicans held a caucus and resolved to oppose the measure whenever it came up. "The bill will not pass."

There is a notice posted in the Wabash depot at this point saying that passengers will be permitted to ride only on freight trains as are specified in the regular working time card and only when provided with regular tickets.

The Anthony Wayne Post G. A. R. show Nat. Goodwin here next Monday night. The amateur opera company also repeat their entertainment that evening and rumors of war between the competitive interests circulated to-day.

The indications for the lower lake region, as reported by the weather bureau at Washington to THE SENTINEL, are as follows: Warmer, fair weather, followed on Sunday by light local storms, easterly winds becoming variable, lower barometer.

The funeral of Miss Lillian Nill occurred this afternoon from her late home. Rev. Waggoner officiated at the funeral and referred tenderly to the young lady. The interment was at Lindenwood, whither a large concourse of sorrowing friends went.

Master Mechanic J. B. Barnes returned yesterday after making a formal inspection tour of the Wabash main line and branches. Mr. Barnes speaks in the highest praise of his men for their strict attention to business and watchful care they take of the company's property.

The Andrews Express says that one of the brakemen in the service of the Wabash railway at that point has only been in the service of the company five weeks, but meantime has been pinched once while making a coupling, fallen off the train three times, and has been sent to the hospital for treatment three times.

The western base ball league was formed at Indianapolis yesterday. The clubs composing the league are the St. Paul, Indianapolis, Cleveland, Kansas City, Milwaukee, Toledo and Nashville. The rules of the American Association were adopted with three exceptions. Fred H. Whipple, a former city editor of THE SENTINEL, represented Toledo in the conference.

Representative Hayden's bill, relating to opening, laying out and widening of streets and alleys, and his bill relating to the laying out of streets, etc., and the collection of assessments, and Representative Brooke's bill, requiring sixty days notice to municipal corporations to persons receiving injuries before filing damage suits, failed to pass the house. These bills were prepared by the mayor's association and Fort Wayne was interested.

"SHAWN RHUE!"

Introducing Mr. Murphy's wonderfully successful song.

"A HANDFUL OF EARTH."

Prices as usual—25, 50 and 75. Reserved seats may be had at box office on Monday morning.

The Arkansaw society gives a sacred concert at their hall to-morrow night.

The Wabash Times takes the part of McGuire, who was shot by Lee Linn, at Wabash.

The Grand Rapids pay car started north yesterday from Grand Rapids and will not be here before Monday or Tuesday.

The Logansport Pharos says: "Civil Engineer Osmer has returned from Fort Wayne, where he has been giving expert testimony in a $200,000 ditch case that has been on trial in the Fort Wayne courts the past two weeks."

George Nill and wife, Toledo, Ohio; Mrs. Morel and daughter, Carrie, of Waterloo, Mich.; Mr. Charles Burkett, of Chicago, and Miss Maud Nill, of Monroeville, attended the funeral of Miss Lillian Nill this afternoon.

The Hindoo club was royally entertained by Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Green last night, the occasion being that bright young attorney's birth day. It escaped his memory until the boys called his attention to it according to Hoyle.

Among the bills passed in the state senate was Senator Winter's, to abolish the offices of city assessor and city treasurer in cities of 70,000 inhabitants. This lets Fort Wayne out and the city will continue under the present admirable management.

The Gazette advocates the abolition of the offices of city treasurer and assessor. It forgets a city auditor would then have to be elected, and the city would find itself paying $2,000 a year extra for the luxury of having a man from the country do its business.

Capt. C. Hettler sends THE SENTINEL an invitation to have a representative at the Seengerbund masquerade next Tuesday evening at the Academy. The entertainments of this popular society are always enjoyable and genteel and its annual mask balls are famous.

City Assessor Jocquel has succeeded in putting more taxable property on the city duplicate than any of his predecessors. The county copies from him and it is a little strange to have the Gazette advocate the abolition of his office, thus allowing hundreds of people to escape their burden of taxation.

The acquittal of Lee Linn for the shooting of Hickey with scarcely a dissenting voice is commended. An intelligent editor to save his life shoots and kills a well known desperado. This is as it should be. In the last month four men who have tried to whip the editor have been killed. Perhaps people will learn after awhile that the editor is not always to be whipped.

Under the lowest rate of taxation ever levied in the city, the municipal officers have the government on a cash basis, are paying the bonded debt at the rate of $30,000 a year, pay annually $16,000 water works interest, and April 1 will have $30,000 surplus in the treasury to further pay off the debtor make improvements, and still the Gazette is not satisfied. The course of that paper in misrepresenting this city is calculated to injure this city abroad.

Officer Max Baumgarner, who was shot by the burglars who attempted to rob the Huntington postoffice a few weeks ago, is fighting a winning battle with his dangerous wound. His physician now says his chances are better than ever. He is slowly regaining the use of one limb but the other is not making any improvement. His wound is doing well and all other complications produced from this are gradually disappearing. Max is cheerful and bears his suffering without a murmur.
